I was born in Maroubra, Sydney in 1942 and am a Third Generation Australian. My grandparents were from Russia, on my mother's side and from Poland on my father's. The family was fortunate not to be in Europe during World War II. I have been married to Vicki for 12 years and between us we have 7 children and 10 grandchildren all living in Sydney, so we are kept busy.

My professional life has been in architecture and building for 50 years. I specialise in CAD (computer aided design) and run the monthly meetings of the Sydney PC User Group.

I feel very strongly that young people should be aware of discrimination, bullying and racism and given the tools to combat them. Although I have not had personal experience of the Holocaust, I feel that the example of the Holocaust is an effective way to educate students. Courage to Care does this very well.
