Volunteer Workshop Leader

I was born in Waverley, Sydney in 1946 and am a Second Generation Ozzie. My grandparents were from Europe - on my mother's side from Spain and my father's from Poland, so I guess I am a mixed bag!

I am married to Barbara (3rd generation Ozzie), have a son and daughter and seven gorgeous grandchildren aged from 4 to 16 living in Sydney and Newcastle. I am semi-retired as is Barbara, but during my career have achieved a university degree and experienced a chequered business life.

Although I don't have personal experience of what the Jewish people experienced in the Nazi era I have strong feelings that the Story must be told to young people so such atrocities can never happen again to innocent people.

I believe Courage to Care has a very important role to play in our Australian community and with young people in particular as they are our future leaders.

In my seventh year with Courage to Care I continue to derive great satisfaction sharing our important message with young people from all walks of life.
